COMMUNITY AWARENESS - Traveling Food Festival - We continued our second year of a cultural/ethnic traveling festival that is conducted as part of the International Outreach meetings, inviting members, family and guests to join us at restaurants in our area that feature different ethnic cuisine, and allowing members to share information about the countries represented. We also take this opportunity to investigate other projects we might want to develop, whether it is an International Outreach Collaboration or Partnership Project.

We began our 2010 tour in January, in far away Korea. Our Food Festival Coordinator, Levina Kim, personally selected the Hahm Ji Bak restaurant in Centreville, VA, based on its authentic menu and food preparation. After consulting with attendees on their dietary preferences, she personally ordered for our group and guided the table top cooking of many of the dishes. She also shared information with our group on her homeland. We all went away raving about the delicious new foods we had enjoyed that evening.

In May, we turned our tasty tour to our neighbors in Spain visiting La Capilla in Old Town Manassas, VA. The restaurant had such an interesting and inviting atmosphere, situated in a renovated historic church. We all shared a variety of tapas and other items from the menu, while discussing our plans for upcoming projects.

To wrap up our tour for 2010, we ventured into historic Middleburg, VA one October evening. There, 10 members and 2 husbands were treated to the French cuisine, at Julien's Café.
